Introduction

Standard Engineering Practices

Document: 1.1
Date 3-13-02
Supersedes:

This manual has been created to act as both a reference and a guide. The standards described in this manual should be applied to all Engineering performed by Invensys personel.

This manual will be a dynamic document that will have continued enhancements and updates. You will not receive hard copy updates. The latest copies of all documents can be found on the Designer Suite Web site under the "Downloads" area.

The Table of Contents will show all documents with their most recent revision date. You can also reference the notes section in the back of the Table of Contents to see a short description of the revisions made. By checking your Table of Contents with the one on the Website, you will be able to determine which documents you need to download.

Please contact Tim.Geiger@Invensys.com with questions or comments concerning this manual.
